WHAT IS BITHACKS?

BitHacks is the platform for AI projects that lead to social change. It is an online, technology-based event that seeks to foster an environment in which hackers can learn freely while maintaining a competitive spirit. There will be activities, workshops, and the main event: a coding competition. Participants will be able to work in groups of up to four people, and compete against other groups with their technology-based projects. Judges will assess projects and winners will be announced for various categories. Winners will receive prizes.
